NORTH CAROLINA COURT FIVE ELIMINATES CATS FROM SOUTHERN EVENT

Blue and White Lose to Tarheels 41-20 Last Friday Night

CAROLINA WONDER TEAM

Kentuckians Appear Lost On Large Tournament Floor

Three years ago eight Wildcats slipped into Atlanta unheralded and unthought of as possible champions of the South, and five days later surprised the Blue Grass state in particular and the southland in general by bidding adieu to the Georgia capitol with the coveted honors in their grasp. Last week eight more Blue and White athletes journeyed to the court classic—this time with a pretty good reputation and counted upon as one of the best court fives in the conference.

But Kentucky fans were doomed to disappointment. Visions of another wonder team were suddenly dispersed when the Cats met North Carolina and fell, defeated 41-20 in the first round of the journey. Kentucky simply met a better team. The Tarheel five played rings around the blue-clad athletes throughout the game and never were the Carolinians in danger of losing after the first few minutes of play. Kentucky appeared lost on the large tournament floor and could not adapt her style of play to the new court.

It is true that the Cats failed to display anything near their best form but it is doubtful that anyone could have beaten the Tarheels last Friday night. The Carolina quintet, made up largely of veterans, is a smooth run-

CO-ED STUNT NIGHT TO BE HELD FRIDAY, MAR. 7

Women's Fraternities to Display Talent in Skits, Dances, Etc.

The Women's Administrative Council is making extensive plans for co-ed stunt night which is to be held at the University chapel, Friday March 7, at 7:30 o'clock. The eight national women's fraternities on the campus will have charge of the stunts and they are vying with each other in producing the cleverest act.

Last year the Y. W. C. A. conducted a similar entertainment which was a pronounced success. This year the performance gives every indication of being even better than that of last year. The best talent in the various fraternities is being used to great advantage and the stunts promise to be of real worth.

The proceeds from the performance gives every indication of being even better than that of last year. The best talent in the various fraternities is being used to great advantage and the stunts promise to be of real worth.

The proceeds from the performance are to be used by the Women's Council for furnishing the Women's League room. Don't fail to buy your ticket now. The admission is 35 cents and tickets may be obtained from the book store or from Margaret Chenault at the Chi Omega house.

KITTENETTS HAVE CLAIM ON STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Hand Overwhelming Defeat To The Georgetown Co-ed Outfit

The undefeated Kinnetts, champions of Kentucky and the South ended their successful season Tuesday night when they defeated Georgetown 26-5 on the home floor. The visiting team was outclassed from the first.

Kerth and Klopp each scored 10 points. Kerth played a fast offensive game, and the floor work and passing of Kerth and Helm was responsible for the majority of goals. Captain Wilson frustrated all the opponents efforts at close shots. Kentucky's defense intercepted many of the opponent's passes mid-floor. Kiefer played a good game passing and shooting.

At the beginning of the second half the score was 18-3. Kentucky substitutes went in, and held Georgetown to one foul, but did not score. In the last five minutes of play the first team went back in and brought the score up to 26. Summary:

Kentucky:	Georgetown:
Klopp 10.....F.....	Royse
Kerth 10.....F.....	Porish 3
Kiefer 4.....C.....	Dennington 2
Helm 2.....G.....	Wheeler
Wilson c.....G.....	Macht

Substitutions: Kentucky—Taylor for Klopp, Jameson for Taylor, O'Hara for Kerth, Hill for Kiefer, Rice for Hill, Boughton for Helm, Reed or Wilson. Kelly for Reed. Georgetown—Gaddie for Dennington, Sledd for Macht.

THE STREAM

By Frank Hoover

I am the mother of the fathomed sea,
I am the father of the age-worn land.
Forever God's destiny is man's right hand
So on, through life's eternity I flee—
I feed the vales and all the forest grand,
I feed the desert and its burning sand—
I am the soul of sadness and of glee.

I'm whirled and tossed by torrents wide

But still I am the king of all the earth,
And mottled thousands worship by my edge.

To pioneers of all ages I am the guide—
I mix their years of wisdom, reason, mirth

To furnish steam as power to drive their wedge.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT GIVES WORK TO A LARGE NUMBER OF TEACHERS

Over One Hundred Are Enrolled From Lexington and Vicinity

PLAN LARGER PROGRAM

Nearly 1,000 Are Served During The First Semester This Year

More than one hundred teachers from Lexington and vicinity are being given extension courses by the Department of University Extension at the University of Kentucky. Nearly all of these teachers have enrolled within the past ten days. Courses in Home Economics, an extension course in the teaching of nutrition and health, has enrolled seventy-one teachers. A course in education, given by the Dean of the College of Education, has enrolled thirty-three teachers. Professor Farquhar is giving an extension class in Browning, and Professor McFarland an extension course in Botany. The extension course in Home Economics is being given by Miss Fitzgerald. All courses are being given for college credit.

Several inquiries have reached the Department of University Extension to know if it plans to expand its program next year to meet the demand that will likely come by reason of the recent ruling of the Board of Education of the City of Lexington regarding the salary schedule for teachers. The Department expects, according to the Director, to make every attempt to work out a larger program for the teachers of Lexington and vicinity, if the demand is justified, so that those engaged in teaching or other pursuits may have an opportunity to continue work toward degrees.

During the first semester of this year nearly one thousand teachers were served by the Department of University Extension. About five hundred teachers were enrolled in thirty different extension courses given by the department at various points over the state of Kentucky. Only about twenty courses are being given during the second semester, but it is expected that the enrollment will be nearly as large as during the first semester.

According to the Director of Uni-

AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS ASKED TO HELP

There has never been a time since automobiles appeared on the campus when so little attention has been paid to the appearance of the campus. Drivers have used walks and grass plots with entire lack of regard for the rights and appearance of the property of the University.

Continuation of this sort of practice must result in the removal of all automobiles from the campus. The cutting up of walks and plots is deplorable.

I am asking people who use automobiles on the campus to show some evidence that they believe in well kept grounds.

HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT TAKES PLACE MAY 1, 2, 3

Large Number of Schools to Participate in Oratorical and Athletic Contests

The High Schools of Kentucky will hold their annual tournament in debate, oratory and declamation, and track at the University on May 1, 2 and 3. Preliminary contests are now being held throughout the state under the supervision of Mr. Wellington Patrick, Director of the Extension Department.

May 1 and 2 will be devoted to the debate and oratory and declamation and May 2 and 3 to the athletic contests. Whether the University can take care of the track meet on Stoll Field depends on the date on which the stadium will be begun. It is expected that the track meet will be larger than usual as much interest has been shown by the different schools in this particular part of the tournament.

District contests throughout Kentucky will start about March 15 and continue till the latter part of April. More than a hundred and seventy-five schools have already been listed for participation in these contests.

LAW NOTES

The Clay Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta wishes to announce the following pledges: R. C. Vansant, Eugene Cochran, Astor Hogg, Howard King, Joe Hobson, T. T. Williamson, Joe Hays, W. T. Simpson, E. S. Melton, H. H. Grooms, John Y. Brown.

In the University Court, conducted by the Law Department, the case of Joe Hobson vs. F. P. Bell was tried Tuesday afternoon in the law building. This was an action for slander, wherein it was alleged that the defendant spoke and published that he was a thief, and had stolen his (the defendant) keys. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff and was assessed his damage at $3,100.00. The case was continued upon motion for judgment on the verdict.

This court is held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on the third floor of the Science Building, and all students are invited to attend.

Several members of the Senior class are preparing to take the bar examination which will be held on April 16 and 17, at Frankfort.

THIRD YEAR MEN HOLD FIRST PLACE IN CLASS BASKET TOURNAMENT

Sophomores Follow Closely With Only One Defeat

SENIORS LOSE ALL GAMES

Freshmen Win Only One Game Out of Three Played

In the third round of the Inter-Class Basketball Tournament held Wednesday afternoon at the University gymnasium, the Juniors defeated the Seniors by the score of 16 to 9 and the Sophomores swamped the Freshmen by the score of 21 to 9.

The Seniors have shown great improvement in their last two games and have gave the Juniors a hard fight. The first half ended 9 to 4 in favor of the Juniors. Soon after the start of the second half the Juniors got a series of goals and were never threatened by the Seniors. Captain Rohs, of the winners displayed much ability and was high point man of the game with nine points. The defensive work of Rice and Potter was of the highest order. Bayless played best for the losers.

The Sophomore-Freshman game was very slow and uninteresting with the Sophomores completely outplaying their opponents. The second year men took the lead from the start and the first half ended 10 to 3. Carey was high point man with eight points being closely followed by Helm who had seven. Wallace was the Freshmen's only hope. He made five of their nine points.

He also called the attention to coming events in Kentucky in which the club should wish to co-operate, such as the meeting of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association in Louisville; the Kentucky Home-Coming in June, and the historical pageant to be held in Harrodsburg.

Miss Patsy McCord discussed the origin and development of the Ku Klux Klan movement.

Mr. Irvin spoke on the principles and history of the Farmer Labor party.

O-O-O

ON, ON, KENTUCKY!

Kentucky took a step forward last Tuesday when the last house of the General Assembly voted to submit the $75,000,000 bond issue to a vote of the people.

The bond issue might not pass the vote of the people. It might pass and prove a failure but Kentucky would still have taken a step forward. It is better to try to improve one's condition and fail than to sit idle, content that nothing be done.

The Alumni Association does not believe the bond issue will prove a failure. It believes that the $5,000,000 to be invested in the University of Kentucky will alone be worth as much to the state as the cost of the entire bond issue. It does not believe that the $50,000,000 to be spent for roads will all be wasted, nor does it believe that the proposed system of financing the issue will fail with the ultimate cost being paid by the farmer.

If part of it fails Kentucky will still be the winner. If it all fails Kentucky will have tried. But it cannot fail. Could a debt of $75,000,000 bankrupt Kentucky with its vast natural resources and accumulated wealth?

The alumni of Old State helped take this step forward. The work is only commenced. Stand by and see it carried through and the rich reward to your Alma Mater and your native state will bring with it an economic advantage for you, even though personal gain be the least of the motives that prompt you to carry on.

O-O-O

SAYS ALUMNI ARE GREATEST ASSET OF ANY UNIVERSITY

The Kernel this week prints the last of a series of articles on the Alumni Association written by the deans of the Colleges of the University. This week's article was contributed by Dean William S. Taylor, of the College of Education. Dean Taylor is an alumnus from the University, a member of the class of '12. The article follows:

"The work of any institution of learning may be measured most accurately by the achievements of its alumni. The reputation of a university is dependent upon the success of its graduates. Whether the men and women who have been graduated from an institution are to bring glory and honor to their Alma Mater will depend, among other things, upon the knowledge, skill, ability, ideals and attitudes developed while they were students.

"Any university that is to become truly great must develop a set of traditions that will become a part of every student who passes through its doors. They must be so much a part of the life of the institution that no student can escape them. The atmosphere of the institution must be surcharged with them and every alumnus must radiate them.

"But what are these traditions that are to characterize the graduates of the institution? Briefly, they are these: high ideals, loyalty to ideals, a spirit of usefulness, a desire to serve, the ability to co-operate, the habit of hard work, thoroughness of preparation for service, ability to suspend judgment, ability to discriminate and to select worthy causes and problems, ability to attack intelligently and solve economically difficult problems, open-mindedness, a desire to know the truth, a scientific attitude of mind, an undying faith in the institution of their choice.

"The alumni of the University of Kentucky are the spokesmen and the champions of the institution. They will represent it properly only insofar as they become imbued with its spirit and life and with its aims and goals.

"Our University's greatest asset is not made up of buildings, grounds, faculty and administrative officers. Its richest heritage is that invisible, intangible something that breathes the spirit of service into each student and binds its alumni together in a common cause—the desire and ability to serve.

"By their fruits ye shall know them." The University of Kentucky is known and judged by its produce and the University has just cause for pride in that produce."

NEW YORK CLUB ENTERTAINS

DETROIT CLUB IS STILL SHOWING MUCH INTEREST

The Detroit Alumni club held one of its best meetings Saturday, February 25, at Dixieland Inn, when 12 members and two visitors were present.

There were three new members, recently discovered by officers of the club. Riley B. Butler, ex-14, is working in the electrical department of the Fisher Body Company, here. H. W. Wooten, ex-18, is an accountant with the Ainsworth Manufacturing Company. Joe McKay, '16, is in the Nizer Laboratories here, in refrigeration work and experimental research. John Matthews, of Lexington, who did not attend the University but who is one of our most interested visitors, was present.

S. R. Welty, representing the Pikeville College, at Pikeville, Ky., attended the meeting and explained his campaign for raising funds to increase the work of the school among the mountain students. The club is preparing to take some definite share of his work, believing that it will advance the cause of education in the state, and ultimately lead to a greater university.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON

The University has just emerged from one of the most successful basketball seasons that it has ever been the good fortune to go through. Barring the year when the cats won the S. I. A. A. tournament the season just passed was by far the most gratifying from every standpoint that a Kentucky team has had in years.

The Cats won fifteen of their eighteen games during the season, and according to record, nearly doubled the combined score of their opponents. The gymnasium was packed to the roof each time the varsity played, something that has happened very few times in the past. The enthusiasm with which the student body and the alumni showed the team was something new for a Cat team to experience.

The most outstanding feature of the year was the Wildcat's triumph over Centre, and Georgetown. Both of these teams were defeated twice by the Cats who by the merits of these defeats won for the University the championship of Kentucky.

The only blot of the entire season was the tournament at Atlanta, and in our eyes that was not such a big one for the team that won from the Cats was the winner of the tournament and while it is probable that we would have gone to the finals had they met some other team in the beginning.

Only one man will be lost by graduation this year. This means that the Cat team will be almost intact next year and will be able to cope with all of the teams in the south for the tournament honors next spring.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Kentuckians are proud of their state and the factors that distinguish it from other states. The Kentuckian is noted for his bravery, his sportsmanship and his admiration of beautiful things.

Recently there have been acts committed on the campus of the University that tend to lower the admiration of the beautiful and to disfigure one of the things that Kentucky alone is noted for. We refer simply to the driving of automobiles over the campus grounds and making mud puddle where formerly there was beautiful blue grass.

There are drives on the campus made of hard road materials and on these drives one is expected to keep his car. They are made for that purpose. Do not drive off the macadam into the grounds to park a car. Do not park opposite a car already parked and there will be plenty of room left for other cars to pass when you have driven to the edge of the drive.

Nothing is gained by driving across the grounds to avoid a few minutes delay. There is always the possibility that the car will become stuck in the soft ground and when it does, much more time is lost than would have been gained and an eye-sore is made on the campus.

By an inspection of our "cut-up" campus one thing is noticed that is somewhat consoling. There has been more vandalism committed in front of the gymnasium building than in any other part of the campus, suggesting the idea that probably the visitors to our games, unintentionally and through ignorance of our drives, have committed the major part of this evil.

This fact alone does not free the students who drive cars on the campus from all guilt. Requests have been made that cars be kept off the grounds. Have a little pride and respect for the appearance of our grounds. Do not be forced to keep off but be a gentleman (or a lady) and comply with the request of the authorities.

If this outrage is continued we suggest stringent laws to compel the observance of the authorities' request. As Kentuckians of the highest type we feel that this little hint to the students will be sufficient to make them see the evil and avoid it in the future.

ning machine, which combines an excellent dribbling offense with an accurate basket attack. The Cat defense judged as the best part of the conference, could not cope with the dribbling of McDonald, Carmichael, Cobb and—we might as well say the entire Tarheel squad.

North Carolina wasted little time in stepping into the lead and was out in front from the time Cobb evened up the advantage Jimmie McFarland had given the Cats by tossing in two free throws awarded him. Carmichael, Cobb and McDonald, bearing the brunt of the Tarheel offense, started a dribbling attack that tore the Cat four man defense to pieces, and soon Carolina was out in front, with a large margin of safety. The half ended with the Tarheel five leading 17-9 and the second period was but a repetition of the first.

None of the Cats ever located the iron hoops satisfactorily. Numerous easy chances, afforded by brief spasms of brilliant passing, were missed. Milward, with eight points beside his name in the summary, led the Kentucky counting. Jimmie McFarland could find the basket on but two occasions while Underwood, King and Riefkin counted once each. Rice and King played a heroic game at guard for the Cats but the Carolina forwards did not have to pass the foul circle to register their points and were usually content to add to the score by shooting over the heads of the Kentucky guards.

versity Extension these courses are growing in popularity as shown by the increased demand this year for this type of work. During the past three years there has been a steady growth, with a considerable increase during the present year.

In addition to the extension courses and correspondence courses, the department is fostering a forensic program among the high schools of Kentucky. About one hundred and seventy-five high schools are now enrolled for work in debate, oratory and declamation, and district contests will be in progress during the month of March and the first part of April in preparation for the State Tournament to be held at the University May 1, 2 and 3.

MEMBER OF JR. CLASS WILL HELP EDIT PAPER

Taylor Munford Leaves to Assist Father in Publishing Weekly Newspaper

Taylor Munford, a prominent member of the Junior class, left Monday for Morganfield, where he and his father, R. M. Munford, will start a weekly newspaper. This is the second time that young Munford has felt the urge of printer's ink calling him. In 1922, when he was a freshman Tyler went to Munfordsville and took charge of the Hart County News, then owned by his father. He was then the youngest editor in the States as well as one of the best liked.

Last February, Munford returned to the University where he has remained as one of the most popular men in his college. Munford is a member of several campus organizations including the Kernel, State Press Association, Delta Chi fraternity and Alpha Delta Sigma, the honorary journalism fraternity.

Munford initiated one of the most beneficial movements for the University that has been started in years when he appeared before the convention of journalists from all over the State at Louisville and proposed a plan to endow a school of journalism at the University and enable the Journalism department to purchase and equip a printing plant for the use of the students. The plan met with popular approval and it is thought that it will be acted upon at the summer session of that body.

Mr. Munford, "Tess's" father, is one of the editors of the Hodgenville Herald-News and goes to Morganfield at the urgent invitation of the Kiwanis Club and leading citizens of Morganfield who hold the Munford family in high regard. The new firm will be known as Munford and Munford.

It is with regret that the friends of Tyler see him leave the University but they realize that he is fully equipped to handle the problems of an editor and their loss is a gain for the press of Kentucky.

ENGINEERING NOTES

Mr. W. C. Eyl, a member of the graduating class of 1917, has just presented to the College of Engineering a very handsome map of Lexington and environs. This map is mounted in the entrance way of Mechanical Hall where students unfamiliar with Lexington may become acquainted with its highways, etc.

A short time ago Mr. Eyl presented to the College of Engineering a very comprehensive map of Kentucky giving special reference to oil properties. This has also been mounted and framed for use of University students and occupies a place along side of the Lexington map.

For some time it has been a custom of the College of Engineering to collect pictures of its former graduates. One has just been received of J. Soule Smith, who was graduated with the class of 1900 and who is at present in St. Louis. Mr. Smith is a brother of Sidney Smith, a well known newspaper man, who for a long time was connected with Lexington newspapers.

MICHAEL FARADAY
1791-1867

Apprentice to an English book-binder. Attracted the attention of Sir Humphrey Davy, becoming his assistant. "The greatest experimentalist of all times," says one biographer. The electrical unit Farad was named for him.

"What's the use of it?"

Michael Faraday saw the real beginning of the age of electricity nearly a century ago when he thrust a bar magnet into a coil of wire connected with a galvanometer and made the needle swing.

Gladstone, watching Faraday at work in his laboratory, asked, "What's the use of it?" The experimenter jestingly replied, "There is every probability that you will soon be able to tax it." The world-wide use of electricity that has followed the Faraday discovery abundantly justifies the retort to Gladstone.

Faraday's theory of lines of force is constantly applied in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company in devising new electrical apparatus of which Faraday never dreamed. Every generator and motor is an elaboration of the simple instruments with which he first discovered and explained induction.

THIRD ANNUAL TOURNEY AT ATLANTA IS WON BY NORTH CAROLINA TEAM

Eliminators of the Blue and White are Champions of the South

SEVENTEEN TEAMS ENTER

Kentucky Five Go Down Before Champions in First Game

The University of North Carolina Tarheels, winner of the 1922 Southern Conference basketball tournament, repeated their former triumph in the third annual tourney held at Atlanta last week, and after defeating the University of Alabama Crimson Tide 24-16 in the finals Tuesday night gained the undisputed title of southern champions. The Carolina five met and defeated some of the strongest conference fives in winning the classic. Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi A. & M., and Alabama failed to stop the Tarheel offense and the Atlantic coast outfit literally swamped all opposition.

The third annual conference tourney, the fourth meet to be held in Atlanta, but the third under the conference regime, attracted the largest number of teams that have yet gathered at the Georgia capitol to settle the age-old dispute. Seventeen teams answered present when A. A. Doonan, chairman of the tournament committee called the roll and it was found necessary to eliminate one in order that the bracketing might work out Florida and Clemson drew the assignment and unofficially opened the tourney Thursday, February 29, with Clemson earning the right for further participation in the meet.

Tulane, dark horse of the meet, formally opened the first round by swamping South Carolina under an avalanche of baskets and winning 60-23. Maryland surprised by eliminating V. M. I. and Alabama came from behind in a hectic struggle to nose out the University of Mississippi 44-42. Vanderbilt and the Mississippi Aggies eliminated Clemson and Tennessee respectively in the remaining afternoon games. In the evening games Auburn furnished another dope bucket upset by defeating Georgia Tech after the Tornado had twice previously defeated the Alabama outfit. Georgia and Washington and Lee put up an interesting struggle in the semi-windup of the day with the Bulldogs eliminating the Virginia boys by a fairly safe margin. North Carolina and Kentucky met in the feature event of the day and the Tarheels started their drive by defeating the Cats 41-20.

North Carolina opened the second round on Saturday afternoon by handing Vanderbilt a terrific lacing to the tune of 37-20 and outplayed the Commodores by a larger margin than the score indicates. Mississippi A. & M. put an end to Tulane's championship hopes by nosing out on top of a 38-30 score. The Pelican quintet looked much better than the Aggies but could not hit the basket with the frequency shown in the opening game. Alabama defeated Auburn, and Georgia barely managed to ease out ahead of Maryland after the latter outfit had threatened seriously to pass the Athens five in the closing minutes of the game.

North Carolina toyed with the Aggies in the first semi-final game and although the Tarheels defeated the Mississippi five 33-23, most of the Carolina regulars were taken out and saved for the final game. Alabama handed Georgia a 37-20 trimming in the other game Monday night. Then in the final and deciding game of the tournament the Tarheels won their second title in three years by winning 24-16.

The North Carolina team was undoubtedly the best five in the meet and showed more class than any other tourney winner has done. In Carmichael, Cobb and McDonald, the Tarheels have an offensive combination that has not been stopped this year. Using a combination dribble and bounce pass attack this triumvirate worked through all opposing defenses and registered baskets with alarming frequency.

SCRAPS

With one tourney off his hands, "Daddy" Boles has turned his thoughts to the feature event of the interscholastic court season, the state meet, scheduled to be held here starting next Thursday. Eighteen boys' teams and sixteen feminine aggregations are eligible to participate in the event and all are expected to be on hand for the opening game.

Work is being rushed on the new gym and the tourney officials are planning to play all of the boys' games and the girls' final event on the new court. The preliminary girls' contests will be waged in the men's gym.

Fraternities and sororities will draw for the visiting teams in the Y rooms this afternoon at 3:30. All groups are requested to have representatives present for the drawing.

Soon comes the time when bath tubs, parlor sofas and dining room tables will get quite a rush for services as helpers of the god Morpheus. Doc Lipscomb ought to be in his glory when the stiff necks and bad colds start coming in March 17.

A frequent pastime of ye undergrads these days is the picking of the winning prep school team of the forthcoming event. From all the dope that can be gathered together it looks like either Podunk High School or the Limping Lizzards from Nonesuch, have the best chance. But the dope bucket has been tipped over before and some cloud enshrouded outfit, carded as the darkhorse may romp home in front. Looks like with the two odd boy's teams that old man Bye will have something to say.

GEORGETOWN FRESHMEN TAKE STATE TITLE FROM KENTUCKY'S YEARLINGS

Hard Fought Game Marks The Close of the Season For Frosh

CUBS HAVE FAST TEAM

Two Wins Over University Team Gives Them The State Crown

The Kentucky Kittens lost to Georgetown College's fast freshman team, 27-23, at the University gym last Monday night. The Georgetown five which now wears the Freshman crown of the state by virtue of two victories over the Kentucky yearlings, was better in every department than the local team.

Georgetown's superiority was more evident in the first half than in the latter, the Tigers leading 17-6 at the end of the first half. The Tiger attack was successful in breaking through the Kitten five man defense but they scored most of their points from long range while the Kitten's markers were practically all made by short shots.

Kentucky started the game as though intending to win in a walk, scoring two field goals before Georgetown opened up. The Tigers, however, did most of the scoring during the remainder of the half and led by a comfortable margin at the halfway junction. In the second period the Kittens played much better ball and threatened to overtake the Tigers near the end of the game. Long shots by the Georgetown forwards kept Kentucky trailing, however.

Georgetown's team was made up of a back guard and four forwards as can be seen by the fact that every man on the team, with the exception of the backguard was represented in the scoring column. Each player made six or more points. For the Cats, Hendricks with 11 points was high point man. Besuden with six was second.

Their boat was drifting idly, the sun shewn above, and the sea was serene; while she was sitting snugly. Then he proposed.

From the opposite end of the craft she gazed at him calmly. Then she said:

"As a matter of common sense, realizing that we are in this boat, on water more than fifty feet deep, and if you were going to act as you should act if I accepted you, we would be cap-sized, I will decline your proposal at this moment—but, George, row as fast as you can for the shore and ask me again."

That girl will make a good wife.—Boston Globe.

SECOND PHILHARMONIC CONCERT TO BE MARCH 9Orchestra is Success; Girls' Glee Club Being Organized

The second concert of a series offered by the Philharmonic Orchestra will be given at the Romney Theatre next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The first concert was received with great enthusiasm by those who attended and the others are being looked forward to with pleasure.

The University quartet composed of Robert Clem, E. M. Heavrin, Dwight Bicknell and Albert DeCoursey, went to Richmond, Ky., Thursday night where the Rotary Club of that city enjoyed the entertainment offered by the quartet.

Professor Lampert has made the announcement that the Glee Club of the University has been hard at work and will be ready for their annual tour in about three weeks.

A Girls' Glee Club is also being formed. They have already had two rehearsals and will have a meeting next Monday for the purpose of organization. While the club will probably be limited to sixteen voices if there are others who are ambitious for membership the Club may be enlarged or a waiting list established.

Absolutely

At a lecture, the speaker orated fervently: "He drove straight to his goal. He looked neither to the right nor to the left, but prest forward, moved by a definite purpose. Neither friend nor foe could delay him, nor turn him from his course. All who crossed his path did so at their own peril. What would you call such a man?"

"A truck driver!" shouted a voice from the audience.—Forbe's Magazine.

The Fate of the Faculty

Ethel Mae—I've got you down for a couple of tickets. We're getting up a little raffle for a poor old college professor of our neighborhood, who's down and out.

Stude—No, thanks, no tickets for me. I wouldn't know what to do with the old boy if I won him.—Sun Dodger.
